

DALLAS

Each pull tells a story, celebrating the leather's depth and character, coming alive with every touch, revealing vibrant bursts of color and natural variations that shift and shimmer with movement.

Wax pull-up leather does change over time. That's not a flaw. That's the point.

Intentional aging,
not "wear and tear."

Frame it as a feature,
not a flaw.

It marks easily, But that's the beauty. Every mark adds soul, making each piece more inviting over time and uniquely different.

The patina tells a story of the space and its guests.
